

FARM STANDS Massachusetts farm stands offer shoppers a bounty of fresh-picked fruits and vegetables, along with a wide selection of Massachusetts produced specialty products, such as maple syrup, local honey, jams, jellies, cider and cheese. Many offer ice cream, delicatessens and bakeries.

MAPLE SUGAR HOUSES Visit sugar houses in season to see maple sap boiled into Massachusetts' maple syrup. Sugarhouses are usually open for tours from late February to early April, but maple products can be purchased year-round: maple candles, maple cream and maple breakfasts. Be sure to call ahead for hours.

GREENHOUSE/NURSERIES Find a plethora of flower, vegetable and herb plants, along with cut flowers, trees and shrubs for landscaping plantings, and other specialty crops. Tour these beautiful farm greenhouses, and enjoy classes and workshops to enhance your gardening success.

CHRISTMAS TREES Enjoy a fresh, fragrant Christmas tree at one of the Massachusetts Choose and Cut tree farms. Tree farms offer handmade wreaths, holiday greens, hayrides, hot drinks and holiday items, plus the freshest trees available. It's an experience the whole family will enjoy. Many farms also allow you to tag a tree prior to the season and come back to cut it in December.

PICK-YOUR-OWN (PYO) FARMS To taste the freshest fruits and vegetables, visit a local farm to "Pick-Your-Own." Strawberries start the season in mid-June, followed by blueberries and raspberries throughout the summer. PYO days continue into fall with peaches, apples and pumpkins for Halloween!

DAIRY FARMS Family-run dairy farms offer fresh retail milk in glass bottles, homemade ice cream, fresh cream, egg nog, flavored milks, cheeses and other dairy products. Most dairy farms with retail facilities invite you to visit and tour the farm.

FISH HATCHERY The Berkshire National Fish Hatchery - a component of the Western Massachusetts Center for Sustainable Aquaculture. The 148-acre property houses ten 3,500-gallon fish tanks, where fresh water fish species including Atlantic salmon, rainbow and brown trout are cultivated. Depending upon the time of year, visitors can see or participate in fish spawning and other WINERIES Massachusetts has 17 wineries from Cape Cod to the Berkshires. Visit a Bay State winery and experience the quality and diversity of wine grown and produced throughout the Commonwealth. Most offer tastings and tours year-round.

FARM BED & BREAKFAST Enjoy a unique getaway at a farm bed & breakfast. Here you will find diverse farm accommodations while experiencing life on the family farm.

EQUINE/FIBER/LIVESTOCK Massachusetts is home to a diverse number of horse, fiber and livestock farms. Many showcase farnams, emus, ostriches, bison and more. These farms offer a range of farm animals, wool products, quality meats and gift items.
